

This is a digital copy of a book that was preserved for generations on library shelves before it was carefully scanned by Google as part of a project to make the world's books discoverable online.

It has survived long enough for the copyright to expire and the book to enter the public domain. A public domain book is one that was never subject to copyright or whose legal copyright term has expired. Whether a book is in the public domain may vary country to country. Public domain books are our gateways to the past, representing a wealth of history, culture and knowledge that's often difficult to discover.

Marks, notations and other marginalia present in the original volume will appear in this file - a reminder of this book's long journey from the publisher to a library and finally to you.

Usage guidelines

Google is proud to partner with libraries to digitize public domain materials and make them widely accessible. Public domain books belong to the public and we are merely their custodians. Nevertheless, this work is expensive, so in order to keep providing this resource, we have taken steps to prevent abuse by commercial parties, including placing technical restrictions on automated querying.

We also ask that you:

- + Make non-commercial use of the files We designed Google Book Search for use by individuals, and we request that you use these files for personal, non-commercial purposes.
- + Refrain from automated querying Do not send automated queries of any sort to Google's system: If you are conducting research on machine translation, optical character recognition or other areas where access to a large amount of text is helpful, please contact us. We encourage the use of public domain materials for these purposes and may be able to help.
- + Maintain attribution The Google "watermark" you see on each file is essential for informing people about this project and helping them find additional materials through Google Book Search. Please do not remove it.
- + Keep it legal Whatever your use, remember that you are responsible for ensuring that what you are doing is legal. Do not assume that just because we believe a book is in the public domain for users in the United States, that the work is also in the public domain for users in other countries. Whether a book is still in copyright varies from country to country, and we can't offer guidance on whether any specific use of any specific book is allowed. Please do not assume that a book's appearance in Google Book Search means it can be used in any manner anywhere in the world. Copyright infringement liability can be quite severe.

GENEALOGICAL AND BIOGRAPHICAL.

EXPLANATION.

In the following genealogies, numerals in parenthesis, after names, refer to the same numbers in Roman characters, denoting heads of families of the same surname, thus: Judith, dau. of Samuel Batchelder (7) m. Nathan Blake (10) means—Judith, whose father was Samuel, of the seventh Batchelder family, married Nathan, father of the tenth Blake family, as here numbered. Birth, death and fact of marriage are given in the record of children of the several families. Date of marriage and particulars of home and life are carried forward to the record of the same children, as heads of families of the next generation. The numbering refers backward as well as forward, and a little attention in the outset, to the simple system employed, will enable the general reader to find the place of any person in the genealogies with perfect ease. The family indexes display the whole arrangement of the large families, each at a single view. The abbreviations b., bp., m., unm., and d. denote respectively—born, baptized, married, unmarried and died. H., No. H., H. F., N. P., K., and Ki., denote respectively—Hampton, North Hampton, Hampton Falls, Newburyport, Kensington and Kingston.

If errors are found, let it be remembered that town and church records, family records and cemetery inscriptions often disagree, and perfect accuracy is then hard to obtain.

BACHILER—BATCHELDER.

I. REV. STEPHEN BACHILER was the progenitor of all the Hampton families of this name, the first pastor of the church and minister of the town. He was born in England in 1561; came to this country, 1632; founded the town of Hampton in 1638, and built his first home here, where Mr. Isaac Emery now lives. He had then a second wife, named Helena. (It is thought that her last name was Mercer.) Mr. Bachiler had children, grown up and married long before he migrated to America. Of these, only one, Mrs. Hussey, is known to have come to Hampton. There came also, grandsons, the Sanborns (1) (2) (3) and Nathaniel Bachiler, or Batchelder, as he was accustomed to write his name, and as it is now commonly written. Mr. Bachiler's wife, Helena, died ———, and he married, third, probably about 1648, Mary

After a residence of more than twenty years in America, he returned to England, where he died at Hackney, in 1660, in the one hundredth year of his age. [See Chap. xix.]

Children, from whom Hampton families are descended :

Anne A son, who m. John Sanborn, and prob. d. in Eng.
Nathaniel A son, the father of Nathaniel (3). Nathaniel, see Additions Theodore, m. Christopher Hussey (2); d. Oct. 16, 1649. Concord

II. Nathaniel BACHILER, or BATCHELDER, the father of Nathaniel, though he did not come to Hampton, is noticed here, as through him the subsequent generations are to be traced back to their first American ancestor.

III. NATHANIEL BATCHELDER, son of the preceding, born in England ; came to Hampton early in life; married, first, Deborah, daughter of John Smith, of Martha's Vineyard, sister of John (2) [and niece of Ruth Dalton (1)?], Dec. 10, 1656. She died Mar. 8, 1676; married, second, Oct. 31, 1676, Mary Wyman, of Woburn, Mass., widow of John Wyman and daughter of Rev. Thomas Carter [and cousin of his first wife?]; third, Oct. 23, 1689, Elizabeth, widow of John Knill, who survived him. He died suddenly, Jan. 17, 1710, aged about eighty years.

The following anecdote is told of him: When, after the death of his first wife, he had determined to marry again, he resolved to be governed in his choice by the direction in which his staff, held perpendicularly over the floor, should fall, when dropped from his hand. The experiment being tried, the staff fell towards the southwest, and in that direction he bent his steps. Having travelled as far as Woburn, he called on the widow Wyman, and offered her his hand, stating that he was going to Boston, and would call for her answer, on his return.

Mr. Batchelder settled first on the house-lot now in possession of Joseph Snider; but later in life, where Walter J. Palmer now lives. He was twice, at least, chosen constable; was one of the selectmen nine years. Children:

BOGART.

Capt. Bogart died in Hampton, Dec. 20, 1885, aged fifty-one years. His widow removed to Boston.

BOULTER.

Nathaniel Boulter had received a tract of land in Hampton and had sold it to William Howard previous to July 8, 1644, when, in answer to the question whether he "were an inhabiter of Hampton," it was decided as follows: "The townsmen do judge that he was an inhabiter, and therefore approve and confirm the bargain between him and Howard." In 1645 he was living in Exeter. Not long after, perhaps about '47, he married Grace, daughter of Richard Swaine (1), and possibly returned to Hampton at that time.

HAMPTON COURT, 26th 7 mo: 1648: "It is ordered by this court that Nathaniel Boulter is fined 10<sup>s</sup> for a lye in open Court affirming a thing ag<sup>t</sup> two witnesses."

"Nath<sup>l</sup> Boulter being convicted the second time of drunkenness before the worshippingfull M<sup>r</sup> Rich: Saltonstall is finde according to Law 20<sup>s</sup>."

July 4, 1660, Boulter bought of John Barrett, "Ensigne of Wells in y<sup>e</sup> county of Yorke in New England" about 100 acres "lying up Taylor's River by the Indian Graves (called James Wall's farm) ;" and Sept. 4, he received from his father-in-law four acres, more or less, with all the orchard growing on it off the easterly part of his house-lot, "abutting on the meeting house green" [at Rand's hill]. Also, Swaine gave to Grace the rest of his house-lot, westward to the fence of the heirs of William Swaine, except a small parcel, about one acre, in the custody of Moses Coxe, to be kept fenced by him, he having married William Swaine's widow. This seems to have been preliminary to Richard Swaine's removal to Nantucket. July 6, 1663, he conveyed to Boulter one-half his purchase there and gave him a power of attorney to do business in Hampton. Four years later, Nathaniel and Grace Boulter sold to Hannah and John Souther, minor children of John and Hannah Souther, a part of the Swaine land (one acre—the little parcel fenced by Coxe), described as being bounded south by "another part of s<sup>d</sup> lot now taken by execution by Capt. James Pendleton," of Portsmouth. The same year Boulter sold to Daniel Dow two and a half acres of planting ground west of the Souther acre, together with one share of the cow common and one share of the Great Ox Common. In 1673 Pendleton sold the homestead to Richard Oliver. Boulter seems to have been a man of ability but not altogether prosperous.

BRABROOK.

I. JOHN BRABROOK (written also Bradbrook, Braybrook and Brabrick), was of Watertown in 1640. He received a grant of land in Hampton the same year, but apparently remained where he was for a time, as he had sons born in Watertown: John, born 1642. Thomas, born 1643. He died in Newbury, June 28, 1662.

BRACKETT.

I. ANTHONY BRACKETT, Captain, son of Anthony, of Portsmouth, lived in Falmouth (Portland), Me. On the 9th of August, 1676, some Indians killed one of his cows, and he complained to a chief, named Symon, who promised to bring the culprits to him. Two days later Symon appeared, early in the morning, at the head of a party, and said: "These are the Indians that killed the cow." Then they entered the house, seized the guns, and asked Capt. Brackett whether he would go into captivity, or be killed. He preferring captivity, the Indians bound him, his wife and a negro, and carried them and five children away as prisoners. In November following, Captain and Mrs. Brackett, one child and the negro made their escape in a leaky canoe. The wife, Ann, died soon after, and the remainder of Capt. Brackett's life is identified with Hampton.

He married, second, Nov. 9, 1678, Susannah, daughter of Abraham Drake (3). The historian, Drake, says: "When Col. Church had the memorable fight with the Indians at Casco, Sept. 21, 1689, Capt. Brackett was killed. After this, his wife and children went to her father's at Hampton, but finally returned to their possessions." But their children's births are recorded in Hampton, as are the children of their son Zechariah, and the presumption is that during some of those years, the home was here. Mrs. Brackett became the wife of John Taylor (2), and died in 1719. Children of Anthony and Susanna Brackett:

X. PAINE WINGATE CHASE. In the year 1826 the Academy sustained a heavy loss in the death of its preceptor, Paine Wingate Chase. As an instructor of youth, Mr. Chase was excelled by few. To a commanding and manly deportment he added a sound and vigorous mind. Having himself a thorough knowledge of the studies which he was called to teach, and devoting a large share of his attention to the duties of his station, he was enabled to communicate instruction to others with clearness and facility.

He was born at Litchfield, N. H., and educated at Yale College, where he graduated in 1821. He took charge of Hampton Academy in February, 1825, and continued nearly two years. At a time when the friends of the institution were anticipating much from his labors and fidelity, death unexpectedly put an end to his career. After having performed the duties of the day, he died suddenly, on Saturday evening, November 4, 1826, aged thirty-three years. Upright and honorable in all his dealings and exemplary in his conduct as a christian, he was beloved and respected while he lived and lamented when he died.

COLE.

I. WILLIAM COLE's house-lot, of five acres, was a few rods eastward of the Baptist church, on the same side of the road, "lying between Philemon Dalton's on the east and Francis Peabody's on the west and the meeting-house green on the south." He had forty acres of land granted to him in June, 1640, and had one share in the commons in 1646. In the latter part of his life he was poor and received help from the town. He died May 26, 1662, aged eighty-eight years, according to the statement of his wife, Eunice Cole, the reputed witch. She died Oct., 1680. (See pp. 53, 67, 79.)

II. ABRAHAM COLE may have been the Abraham, son of Isaac and Joanna Cole, born in Charlestown, Oct. 3, 1636. They had also Jacob, born 1641, and probably Isaac (3). Abraham Cole married Mar. 15, 1666 or '67, Mary Wedgwood, probably daughter of John (1). Children:

Perhaps Isaac, whose will, proved Mar. 4, 1707, mentions his brothers, Abraham and Jacob, and his cousin, Isaac Foss.

Perhaps, therefore, Jacob.

➤ III. ISAAC COLE, carpenter, millwright, probably brother of Abraham (2), was of Exeter, Nov. 22, 1661, when he sold to Abraham Perkins, Sr, for £20 10s. land in Hampton (ab. 4 a.) bounded E. by the house-lot of s<sup>d</sup> Perkins; W. by a common way; N. by Anthony Taylor; S. by pasture land of Hezron Leavitt—being formerly land of John Cass, who sold it to Christopher Palmer & s<sup>d</sup> Palmer sold it to Isaac Cole. (Norf. Rec. 248.)

Isaac Cole [Jan. 15, 1666] sells to Hezron Leavitt "my now dw. house & y<sup>e</sup> barne & leantoos wth all the housing being & standing upon y<sup>e</sup> land w<sup>ch</sup> I bought of Chr<sup>r</sup> Palmer lately in possession of J<sup>no</sup> Cass; also to s<sup>d</sup> Hezron my orch<sup>d</sup> & other yards & gardens adj<sup>s</sup> to y<sup>e</sup> s<sup>d</sup> housing & y<sup>e</sup> pasture as it is now fenced in, y<sup>e</sup> w<sup>ch</sup> yards & pastures being y<sup>e</sup> south end of y<sup>e</sup> lott y<sup>t</sup> was formerly belonging to s<sup>d</sup> Cass, lying & being in Hampton abutting upon y<sup>e</sup> meeting House green south & the other part of s<sup>d</sup> house lot on N=W. by a common highway & part of the lot of Abr. COTTON.

An interpretation seems necessary, of the relationship of the early Cottons to each other, and to the Mathers, of Boston and vicinity.

Rev. John Cotton, of Boston, married Sarah Story, who married, second, Rev. Richard Mather, of Dorchester, father of Rev. Increase Mather, of Boston. Children :

Rev. Seaborn Cotton, of H., father of Rev. John Cotton, of H.

Rev. John Cotton, of Plymouth, father of Rev. Theophilus Cotton, of H. F. and Rev. Rowland Cotton, of Sandwich, Mass.

Maria Cotton, 1st wife of Rev. Increase Mather, of Boston, who m., 2d, Anne (Lake) Cotton, wid. of Rev. John Cotton, of H.

Rev. Rowland Cotton, of Sandwich, was father of Rev. Ward Cotton, of Hampton.

Rev. Increase and Maria (Cotton) Mather were the parents of Rev. Cotton Mather, of Boston.

A legal document, with some of the above names appended, is interesting, as showing the friendship of Sir Henry Vane for our Hampton minister, and the fact of the latter's possession of real estate in Boston. It is as follows :<sup>1</sup>

Cotton-Vane Estate, Boston : "Know all men by these presents, that we whose names are underwritten, doe resign o<sup>r</sup> Interest in the land lying next to that house w<sup>h</sup> was Sometimes Sr Henry Vanes and by him given vnto Mr Seaborn Cotton. Provided that the say<sup>d</sup> mr Seaborn Cotton by himselfe, heirs or Assigns, shall pay or cause to be Pay<sup>d</sup> in Lawfull money of New England the full sume of fiftie Pounds vnto us o<sup>r</sup> heirs or Assignes before the 29<sup>t</sup> of September one thousand six hundred sixtie & five.

Wade, b. Oct. 6, d. Oct. 11, 1676.

A record of Mr. Cotton's family is found in the quaint language of his diary,<sup>2</sup> a specimen of which is given, as follows:

"I was Married by My Father M<sup>r</sup> Simon Bradstreet to His Eldest Daughter Dorothy, June 14, 1654."

"The fifth [child] was borne on Thursday, August 22, 1661, at halfe an houre past 12 at noone, her name is Anne."

With the exception of Rev. John Cotton, no son of either of the above ministers settled in Hampton and the name disappeared from the town. It reappeared, probably from Portsmouth, in North Hampton, in the persons of John and Thomas Cotton, the latter of whom was the father of Morris and grandfather of Jonathan, whose descendants still live at Little River.

John and Nathaniel Cotton, sons of Nathaniel, of Stratham, were brought up, the former, in the family of Ephraim Marston (33), the latter, in that of Thomas Ward (6). After they were married, they lived in the houses now owned by John F. and Jeremiah G. Mace.

His wife, Alice, was lost at sea, Oct. 20, 1657, with their son, John, and six others, including William Swayne (2) (p. 57,) whose widow, Prudence, daughter of William Marston (1), Mr. Coxe married June 16, 1658. #### CROSSE.

I. JOHN CROSSE, one of the grantees of the town, was of Ipswich in 1635, and is supposed to have come here with the first settlers, in the fall of 1638. Certain it is, that he was here in 1639, in which year he was made freeman. His house-lot was the next easterly of Roger Shaw's, and after living on it a few years, he sold it, together with other lands, to Thomas Ward, and probably returned to Ipswich, where he is said to have died in 1652. Mr. Crosse appears to have been a man of considerable ability, and, as such, was not unnoticed by the people. He represented the town in the General Court at both sessions in 1640, and at the spring session in 1641. In May of the latter year, he was appointed with two others, by the General Court, to appraise the live-stock in the town, for taxation; and, in June following, one of the commissioners for small causes, which office he held some more than two years. Dec. 14, 1639, he had 250 acres granted to him by the town for a farm, and in the assignment of rights in the commons, he received two shares, besides his farm-lots. He was one of a very few men among the early inhabitants, who were styled Mr., which was then an honorary title. His wife's name was Ann. Their daughter Ann was baptized in Newbury, Oct. 9, 1638.

DALTON.

I. REV. TIMOTHY DALTON, associate pastor, or as he was styled, teacher of the church in Hampton, soon after its settlement, died in 1661, his widow, Ruth, in 1666, and their only child, Timothy, previous to 1652, as stated at length in the Ecclesiastical Department of this work.

October 10, 1657, Mr. Dalton conveyed his farm, of three hundred acres, lying on the south side of Taylor's river, by separate deeds of gift, to three of his kinsmen, giving one hundred acres to each. The grantees were Jasper Blake (1), Nathaniel Batchelder (3), and Emanuel Hilliard (1). It seems probable that Mr. Blake was his brother-in-law. The relationship of Batchelder and Hilliard is not so clear, but it is supposed that their wives were nieces of Mrs. Dalton. In an indenture in 1664, she terms Nathaniel Batchelder "my constituted heir ;" and makes provision for Elizabeth (Hilliard) Merry and her three (Hillard) children. She also gives a small sum to Mary, wife of William Fifield (1), and to Walter Roper (1), who were, perhaps, relatives. Mrs. Dalton gave the bulk of her property to Nathaniel Batchelder (3).

II. PHILEMON DALTON, brother of the minister, was the progenitor of all the Dalton families that have since lived here. He was several years younger than his brother, as appears from the record of his examination, April 15, 1635, previous to embarking for New England. He was then forty-five years of age, and his wife, Dorothy, thirty-five; so that he was born about 1590, and his wife, about 1600. They brought with them a son, named Samuel, then about six years old. hence born about 1629. He appears to have been their only child. Mr. Dalton was fatally injured by the fall of a tree, and died June 4, 1662. Dorothy, his widow, was afterward married to Godfrey Dearborn (1). Philemon Dalton's house-lot was nearly opposite the Center school-house.

III. SAMUEL DALTON, son of Philemon (2), married Mehetabel, daughter of Henry Palmer, of Haverhill, Mass.; inherited the homestead. He was a very influential man, and for thirty years or more, held offices of trust and transacted a great amount of business.

"In answer to the motion of the deputy of Hampton, Mr. Samuel Dalton is appointed and impowered to solemnize marriage of persons (one of whom is resident in that towne), being published according to lawe, and to administer oathes to witnesses as cases may require, & also commissioned to be an associate in the County Courts as the last yeare." (Mass. Rec.; May 15, 1672.)

JOSKPH FREDERIC DEARBORN.

The eldest son of Jonathan and Sarah Dearborn, growing up in the quiet of his Hampton home, early gave promise of those talents which developed under the instruction of Principals Harris and Shepard at the Academy, especially in the lines of classical and mathematical study. At the age of eighteen, he entered Dartmouth College, and at once took high rank. Applying himself intensely to the studies he loved, and faithfully to the whole college curriculum, steadfast and upright, genial and kind-hearted, he could not fail to pass the college course with honor. He was graduated in 1839, third in his class of sixty-one members.

From college, Mr. Dearborn went to Harvard Law School, and thence to the office of Colby and Clifford, in New Bedford, Mass. Having completed his course with these eminent lawyers, he was admitted to the bar, and opened an office for himself in New Bedford, thus entering upon a career of twenty-five years' practice in that city, in which he became widely celebrated for his clear insight, careful preparation and successful prosecution of cases, civil and criminal. At the same time, he amassed a considerable fortune by investments in whaling and real estate.

His ceaseless activities at length breaking down his health, Mr. Dearborn retired from business and spent some months in travel. An incident of his European travel illustrates his delight in giving pleasure to others. From every city and point of interest visited, he gathered pebbles as souvenirs, and wrote on each label a sentence or two descriptive of the place. On his return, he gave a large package of these mementoes to a friend, and then handed her a duplicate package, saying: "Give these to some one who will like them."

In Germany, Mr. Dearborn first met the lady who became his wife, and with whom he made a home "singularly sweet and pleasant," in Melford, Mass., removing to Melrose Highlands after ten years. After his return from Europe he engaged less in active business and more in his own conservatory and gardens. His death from pneumonia, in 1889, was sudden and unexpected, after only a few days' illness. He lived honorably and died peacefully.

About the year 1860, Mr. Dearborn bought four contiguous lots in the new cemetery in Hampton, comprising 1296 square feet, in the most elevated part of the enclosure. After his death, the use to which it was to be put was revealed by a provision in his will, that ten thousand dollars be expended for an enduring monument upon the spot, in memory of Godfrey Dearborn, his first American ancestor. The long cherished plan was energetically carried forward by Mrs. Dearborn, who has since become Mrs. J. Merrill Currier, and still resides in Melrose Highlands. Mr. Currier superintended the erection of the monument, which was gratefully appreciated by his wife.

The obelisk, which is of Barre, Vt., granite, was manufactured in that town, and shipped to Hampton in October, 1890. In the spring of 1891 it was placed in position upon the rock foundation prepared for it. The first base is ten feet square and one foot deep; second base, eight feet square and one foot deep; third base, six feet square and fifteen inches deep, with finely moulded edge. On this rests the die, which is four feet square and six feet high, its faces and the round pillars at the corners being highly polished. Surmounting this is the cap, projecting over the die about six inches. This and the plinth above it are at once graceful in design and finish, and sufficiently massive to receive the main shaft, which is three feet two inches square at the bottom, and twenty inches square near the top, from which it tapers to a point, and towers thirty-one feet above the plinth. The whole structure stands forty-six feet high.

The inscriptions are as follows: On the west face of the second base is "DEARBORN," in heavy raised letters; on the north face of the die, "Ancestor of the Dearborn family in America, who emigrated from Exeter, England, to Exeter, N. H., in 1639, settled in Hampton in 1650, and died in 1686;" on the west face of the die, "Erected 1890, by Joseph Frederic Dearborn, son of Jonathan and Sarah Towle Dearborn, in memory of Godfrey Dearborn;" on the south face, "Joseph Frederic Dearborn, born May 14th, 1817; died March 15th, 1889." On the four sides of the lower margin of the cap are the mottoes: "First the useful, then the ornamental;" "Trust few, deceive none;" "Be resolute and persevere;" "Do right and fear not." On the four sides of the plinth are the words "Temperance," "Economy," "Truth," "Industry."

This solid memorial of the sturdy forefather of a numerous posterity, scattered throughout the United States, was unveiled with appropriate ceremonies, on the 20th of June, 1891. After dinner at the hotel, given to a large number of invited guests, by Mr. and Mrs. J. M. Currier, the ceremonies at the monument were placed in the hands of Mr. G. H. Dearborn, of Melrose. Very appropriately, the act of unveiling was performed by Mrs. Currier, in that supreme moment when she saw the purpose of years accomplished, in the stately monument towering high above the assembled throng and overlooking the village and cultivated fields, beautiful in their June freshness, that could have had no being but for the brave daring and self denying toil of those early years commemorated.

The president, Mr. G. H. Dearborn, sketched the lives of Godfrey Dearborn, the ancestor, and Joseph F. Dearborn, the donor of the monument. Addresses were made also by Dr. J. W. Dearborn, of Parsonsfield, Me., Hon. Sylvester Dana, of Concord, Hon. N. C. Berry of Boston and Charles M. Lamprey, Esq., of Hampton. And the elements of prayer and song carried all hearts heaven-ward, whither the tall shaft silently points.

DOW.

The great-grandfather of Henry Dow, the first of the name in Hampton, was John Dow, who died at Tylner, Norfolk county, England, in July, 1561 (between the seventh of the month, the date of his will, and the twenty-third, when it was presented for probate), leaving three children, Thomas, John and Edith, all minors, and two brothers, William and Thomas.

Thomas Dow, son of John, of Tylner, was afterward of Runham, in the same county. His wife's name was Margaret. He had two sons, Henry and Christopher, and two daughters, one of whom married Stephen Farrar, and the other, — March. Christopher married and had nine children.

Henry Dow, the elder son of Thomas, lived at Runham. His wife's name was Elizabeth. Their children were Thomas, Henry, Edward, Mary, Frances and William, who must all have been young, when the father died, Dec., 1612, or Jan., 1613. Henry, the second son, came to Hampton.

I. HENRY Dow, the progenitor of the Dow families of Hampton and vicinity, was the second son of Henry and Elizabeth Dow, of Runham, Norfolk, England, where he was born about 1608. On the eleventh day of February, 1631, he married Joane, widow of Roger Nudd, of Ormsby, in the same county, then lately deceased, leaving an infant son, Thomas (1). After six years' residence in Ormsby, Mr. Dow applied for permission to emigrate to America, and having been examined, was granted a license, Apr. 11, 1637, for himself and family, as follows: Henry Dow, husbandman, aged 29 years; Joane, his wife, 30 years; with four children, and one servant (Anne Manning, aged 17 years), "who are desirous to pass into New England, to inhabit."

Mr. Dow settled first in Watertown, Mass. Here his wife died, and was buried, June 20, 1640; and he married, second, in 1641, Margaret Cole, of Dedham, Mass. Here, probably, the fourth child mentioned in his emigration license, died. He removed to Hampton in the latter part of 1643 or early in 1644, having previously bought of John Sanders a dwelling house (where the late John J. Leavitt's store now stands), and several tracts of land for a farm. This homestead remained in possession of his lineal descendants till after the death of Olive Dow, of the sixth generation, daughter of John (22), in 1854, when it was sold and passed into other hands.

This was the Henry Dow who was selectman in 1651; deputy from Hampton to the General Court of Massachusetts in 1655 and '56; and appointed, with two others, in 1658, to examine and record all land grants and highways. This last work was interrupted by his death, Apr. 21, 1659. On the twenty-third of October, 1661, his widow married, second, Richard Kimball, of Ipswich. Children:

Thomas, bp. at Ormsby, Eng., Dec. 27, 1631; d. at Watertown, Ms., and was buried July 10, 1642.

II. HENRY Dow, Captain, Esquire, son of Henry (1), being about twenty-five years of age when his father died, settled the estate, as executor of the will, and remained on the homestead, in charge of the farm, the other children being minors. Two months later, he married Hannah Page, who came with her parents from Ormsby, in the same ship with the Dow family. He continued to have some care of his farm; had some shipping interest; was part owner of a sawmill; and kept a store, as appears from an account-book, still preserved. He was a land-surveyor; selectman; town clerk; was deputy to the General Assembly, clerk of the House, speaker, pro tem. He was marshal of Norfolk county, from Abraham Drake's resignation, in 1673, till the close of the Massachusetts government in New Hampshire; was deputy marshal, under royal government; and in 1680 appointed marshal for a limited time.

On the eighth of October, 1686, Mr. Dow was "admitted and sworn as an attorney and paid his fee."

He was ensign of the Hampton company of militia, in 1689; and in 1692, captain, his commission being signed by Sir William Phipps, then governor of Massachusetts, with which the New Hampshire towns were temporarily connected. From this time, he was generally styled Capt. Henry Dow.

During the administrations of Andros and Dudley, Captain Dow was one of the justices of the court for New Hampshire. In 1695 he was justice of the Inferior Court of Common Pleas, and was re-appointed to the same office in April, 1697. He was senior justice in 1699, and held the office till his death in 1707. From 1702 till his death, he was a mandamus councillor. In all his life, his character was marked by strict integrity and piety.

Captain Dow kept a diary, which is still preserved, containing, among other matter, a brief calendar of daily events, chiefly personal, from March, 1672, to May, 1696. It is significant, however, that two leaves, covering the time from July, 1683, to January, 1684, are torn out. These may have contained notes of political actions, possibly of Mr. Weare's mission to England at this time, in which Captain Dow took an active part, which he thought prudent to destroy. The whole period recorded in Chap. V is included in the time of this diary, a specimen folio of which is here reproduced.<sup>1</sup>

From the little book itself the character and occupations of the man appear. Now he is about his farm work or launching a vessel or sawing at cedar swamp mill or laboring at the public works; now he is collecting a province rate; again we find him with the Assembly at Great Island or in consultation with Mr. Vaughan, Mr. Cutt, Captain Sherburne; and now speeding to Haverhill, Newbury, Ipswich, Boston, on some unknown errand. Once more, he is exercising his company in military tactics; and anon there comes an Indian alarm, and we find him at the garrison or with the soldiers outside his own town.

Henry Dow married, first, June 17, 1659, Hannah, daughter of Robert Page (1), "one just in her generation;"<sup>2</sup> second, Nov. 10, 1704, widow Mary Green, daughter of Capt. Christopher Hussey (1), "a gracious gentlewoman," as styled by a Boston newspaper, after her death, at the great age of ninety-four. Children:

<sup>1</sup> The diary is written largely in a unique cipher, the entire key to which has never been discovered, though a few characters have long been known, and since the beginning of 1892 the whole alphabet has been worked out. Still, there are many arbitrary signs in the compact pages of the book, which have thus far baffled study, and the question whether or not this may throw light upon any secret actions of town or province in those stormy times is yet unsolved. FOGG.

SAMUEL FOGG came to Hampton within a few years after its settlement and received grants of several tracts of land. He bought the homestead of Capt. Christopher Hussey (the Anthony Emery place), Captain Hussey having removed to his farm on the Falls side of the town. In the second review of old grants, made in 1658 (pp. 58, 59), and recorded on the town book, were found grants to "Samuel Fogg of Hampton," in part as follows:

"1. Impri: Eight Acres & Haffe of upland bought of Mr. Hussey, being the one half of His grant in the East field lying between the meadow of the s<sup>d</sup> Samuel Fogg towards the East and the land of William Monlton sometimes Mr. Hussey towards the West, abutting upon the High Way towards the East, & the land of Will. Sanborn towards the West, bee it more or less as it is layd outt.

8. Itt. A quarter of an acre of land in the Meeting house green the wh was granted to John Cross sometimes of Hampton, & by the s<sup>d</sup> John Crosse sould unto Roger Shaw and by the s<sup>d</sup> Roger Shaw given to Sam<sup>l</sup> Fogge and so appointed by the town to ly adjoining to that peece of land whereupon his House standeth wch was formerly Mr. Husseys: being bounded with the sayd peece of land towards the South & otherwise soe bounded with the Meetinghouse Green, more or less as it is layd outt."

In the drawing for lots at the New Plantation, six years after the first survey in 1663 (pp. 64, 65), Samuel Fogg drew lot number sixty—one hundred acres. He must, therefore, have owned two shares or more of the commons at that time. The farm now owned by Mr. John H. Fogg was, without much doubt, included in his possessions, though no homes were then built so far away from the chief settlement. This farm has never been conveyed by deed, but has passed down from generation to generation, by virtue of the original grant.

never been any deeds." As a practical and progressive farmer, he keeps it in a high state of cultivation by the most approved methods and best implements.

Though living remote from the center of the town, Mr. Fogg keeps in touch with public affairs; has been selectman four years; was representative to the General Court in 1878; is treasurer of the Congregational society; has been a trustee of the Academy since 1880; and is often and in many ways connected with town interests and trusts. He is a Democrat in politics.

Mrs. Fogg is a lineal descendant of Robert Drake, who settled in Hampton in 1651, and of Col. Abraham Drake, an officer in the Revolutionary war. The homestead of one hundred fifty years, on Drake's hill, in North Hampton, still remains in the Drake family, her brother, Joshua P. Drake, having recently taken down the old house and built anew.

Mr. and Mrs. Fogg are members of the Congregational church in Hampton, and both are lineal descendants of Rev. Stephen Bachiler, the founder of the town.

FULLER.

I. WILLIAM FULLER, "planter and smith" [p. 17], entered passenger from England in the "Abigail," Richard Hackwell, master, May 4, 1635—aged twenty-five years. At the same time, John Fuller, fifteen years. William was in Ipswich, 1637; admitted freeman, 1641. His house-lot of ten acres in Hampton, granted June, 1640, was situated on the road from the Meeting-house Green to the Landing. Other grants and purchases make a total of forty-nine acres, recorded as owned by him, together with three shares in the commons, granted in 1645. He was a selectman in 1644 and eight subsequent years; was representative in 1667. He died May 26, 1698. His wife, "ould goodwife Fuller," died Dec. 14, 1699, aged "above 80." They probably had no children.

Goodman Fuller's will, dated Mar. 18, 1691, mentions his "consin, Josiah Moulton, son of Henry Moulton, of Hampton, and Elizabeth, wife of said Josiah, they being as son and daughter to me and my wife." Other legatees were: Elizabeth, now wife of Daniel Dow; Mary Foy, y<sup>t</sup> was y<sup>e</sup> Daughter of Sam<sup>l</sup> Foy, of Hampton—decd.; Martha Marston, now wife of John Marston, Sen<sup>r</sup>, of Andover; church in Hampton, my Pewter Flagon. Josiah Moulton, executor.

II. GILES FULLER was one of the "young men who received house-lots" at the settlement of the town. His relationship to the other Fullers of Hampton is not known. His house-lot was the present homestead of Ebenezer W. Lane, and extended northerly to the swamp, still called, probably after him, Giles' swamp. Later, he owned another lot, on the Exeter road, between lots of William Godfrey and Abraham Drake. He was probably married about 1650, for then a seat was assigned to him in the meeting-house, "for a wife." He died "suddenly, in his own house," Apr. 6, 1676.

The following registry of emigration is found: "Susanna Thurton (alias Fuller) daughter of Rodger Fuller, late of Topcraft in y<sup>e</sup> Co: of Nor. & Sister of Giles Fuller, late of Hampton in N. E., dec<sup>d</sup> (no other son or dau.) That Tho. Th. of the parish of St. Buttolphs, Bishopgate, Tobacconist—now to go to New England in ship Mary & Sarah (John Foye Mr.) son of Tho: Th. of Croydon & Susanna his wife." London, Apr. 5, 1677."

In a list of church members in full communion, Sept., 1671, is Frances Fuller. As the name has not the prefix "Goody," she was probably unmarried and may have been a daughter of Giles Fuller.

III. JOHN FULLER. A plausible supposition is that he was a son of Giles (2) and lived on the latter's lot, next a lot owned by William Godfrey, and perhaps occupied by Godfrey's son, John. This would make John Godfrey and John Fuller near neighbors; and Fuller's wife, Rachel, would naturally "come in at the back door," as stated in the witchcraft deposition (p. 85). John Fuller married Mar. 19, 1677, Rachel Brabrick, probably daughter of John (1). He is supposed to have died in 1719. Children:

John, b. Jan. 12, 1678; d. Jan. 19, 1715.

Benoni, prob. twin to John, d. Feb. 25, 1761, "æ. 88." He lived near Joseph L. Marston's, in No. II.

James (5), b. Mar. 27, 1679; m. Mary ———.

Elizabeth. Rachel. Thomas (6), b. Aug. 27, 1695; m. Hannah Chase.

IV. WILLIAM FULLER, "JUNIOR," son of ———, married June 29, 1680, widow Susanna Buswell, daughter of Isaac Perkins (2); had a daughter Abigail, born in Ipswich, Mar. 10, 1690.

V. JAMES FULLER, son of John (3), married Mary ———. He was probably the James Fuller who lived in that part of the town annexed to Rye (p. 193). Children:

James, b. Dec. 2, 1704. John, b. Mar. 4, 1711.

Mary, b. Aug. 17, 1718.

VI. THOMAS FULLER, son of John (3), married Oct., 1780, Hannah, daughter of John Chase (5). Their children:

GARLAND.

I. JOHN GARLAND (probably son of Peter, of England), the ancestor of all the Hampton families bearing this name, was here in 1653, as his name is on the tax list for that year. He settled in the eastern part of the town, where some of his descendants of every generation since have lived, on the spot where, till within a few years, stood the house occupied by the brothers, David and Jonathan Garland, both now deceased. The present Garland house, in the same enclosure, is a little farther east.

GODFREY.

I. When WILLIAM GODFREY, the first of the name in Hampton, came to New England is unknown. He lived awhile in Dedham, Mass., and several years in Watertown; was made freeman in 1640. In May, 1648, he bought of Samuel Getchell (then of Salisbury), five acres for a house-lot, between the lots of Thomas Leavitt and Giles Fuller (on the Exeter road), also other land. There were two deeds recorded, of the same date, conveying the same property; in one of which, Godfrey was said to be of Watertown, and in the other, of Hampton. On the 18th of May, 1649, being then of Watertown, he bought of William Payne, of Ipswich, for £55, forty-four acres of land in Hampton, together with one share of the Great Ox-Common, and two shares of all other commons. On one lot of fifteen acres, there was a dwelling house, to which he appears to have removed his family soon afterward. His house was on the west side of the "country road," a little distance south of the residence of Christopher G. Toppan. In 1654 he was a selectman, but was not often employed in town business. He became a deacon of the church as early as 1660, and held the office till the close of life. He died March 25, 1671.

Dea. Godfrey married (probably about 1635) Margery (Margaret), widow of Thomas Webster (1), who died in Ormsby, in the county of Norfolk, England, April (buried on 30th), 1634. She was probably the second wife of Dea. Godfrey, his son John being by a former marriage. She married, third, John Marion (1). Children :

John (2), b. ab. 1632; m. Mary Cox; d. Mar. 19, 1697.

Isaac (3), b. in Watertown, Apr. 15, 1639; m. Hannah Marion; d. Dec. 27, 1717.

II. JOHN GODFREY, son of Dea. William (1), married May 6, 1659, Mary, daughter of Moses Cox (1); lived perhaps on the lot first owned by his father. Children :

GREEN.

I. HENRY GREEN, Councillor, Judge, born as early as 1620, was of Hampton within a few years after the first settlement of the town; for in May, 1644, certain lands were granted to him in exchange for other lands, then in his possession. He bought the house-lot first granted to Arthur Clarke (on the Perry estate), and perhaps lived there for a time, but in 1653 he was living on the south side of Taylor's river. He was a millwright by trade and a mill owner (Chapter xxxi); but he was also a prominent man in the town and province. He was twice chosen a commissioner to settle the Salisbury line; was selectman, two years; assistant of the Inferior Court; a justice of the Court of Sessions; councillor from 1685 to 1689, and again from 1692 to 1698; and Chief Justice of the Court of Common Pleas, 1697-8. At the council board and on the bench his influence was very great, while his sterling character won the respect of the people, so that important trusts were consigned to his hands. Being a justice during the Mason controversy, however, he then shared the unpopularity of the courts.

Judge Green was twice married. His first wife, Mary, the mother of his children, died April 26, 1690; and he married, second, Mar. 10, 1691, widow Mary Page, daughter of Capt. Christopher Hussey (2). His death is thus chronicled on the town records of Hampton:

In March, 1643, "part of the Brethren and most of the inhabitants of Hampton" sent a petition to the General Court at Boston, complaining "that he was established for a lief tenant over us without our knowledge or desires & hath so continued about the space of 3 years," and asking his removal for specified "defects." The court did not find the charges substantiated, but allowed the petitioners another training officer temporarily, in the hope that "after a while their spirits may close again."

Lieutenant Howard was the second town clerk, chosen in 1643, and continued in office four years, till he moved away from town. There is no record of his family. His name is written also Hayward, but his signature is always Howard.

I. EPHRAIM HOYT, of Amesbury, came to Hampton, and settled on the Falls side of the town. In 1703 he petitioned for the use of a portion of the public land. He had a son, Ephraim, and probably others; for in 1732 Ephraim Hoyt was rated in Hampton Falls, for "3 Heads," Ephraim Hoyt, Jr., "1 Head." Elizabeth Hoyt, of Hampton Falls, married Edward Macklaughlin, of Dover, July 11, 1743.

HUNTON, now written HUNTOON.

D. T. V. Huntoon, of New York, author of The Huntoon Genealogy, supposes that William Hunton, the first of the name in this country, was a brother of Philip Hunton, a distinguished non-conformist minister and author, of London, born in Andover, County Hampshire, 1598 ; graduated at Oxford, 1626 ; died 1682.

William Hunton received a grant of land in Hampton as follows : "The 24 : 2 mo. 1643 [Apr. 24, 1643] Granted to Will : Hunton 2 akers &  $\frac{1}{2}$  of upland adjoining to Jefery Myngyes towards the north-west & Tho : Levitts towards the south east ; one end abutting upon the wigwas [wigwam] Lotts : & the other upon the common towards the north-east—more or less as it layd out. Voted." This is all that is found on the records, implying that William Hunton was in Hampton. A record of the lots of land owned by the people here was made in 1644, when the foregoing lot had been alienated, as appears in describing the lots of Samuel Getchell. [See Getchell.] Nothing is known with certainty of William Hunton's family, but it is supposed that Philip, the ancestor of the Huntoons of New England, was his son.

Phillip Hunton married Betsey Hall, of Exeter, and lived for a time in that town, where, in 1697, there was granted to "phillip huntune thirty acres of land joining to a piece of swamp, had formerly." Another grant was made in 1699. About 1703, he removed to Kingston, his wife having probably died in Exeter. He married, second, Hannah ———. In 1707, he, with seven other men and their families, deserted the town, through fear of Indians; but they were ordered back (p. 235). The same day that Col. Winthrop Hilton was killed, July 22, 1710, as Phillip Hunton and his son Samuel were at work in a field, they were surprised by Indians, who mortally wounded the son and took the father, and one Jacob Gilman, captive, and sold them to the French, in Canada. They purchased their freedom, by building a saw-mill, said to have been the first erected in Canada, and returned home after two years.

I. WILLIAM HUNTON, of Hampton, 1643; married ———. Son: Phillip (2), prob. b. in England.

II. PHILIP HUNTON, son of William (1), married, first, Betsey Hall, of Exeter, who died previous to 1703; second, Hannah ———, who died in Kingston, Dec. 22, 1741, "in a very composed and comfortable manner, after a long life of piety and virtue." Children:

Samuel, b. ab. 1689; d. July 23, 1710.

HUSSEY.

I. JOHN HUSSEY, of Dorking or Darking, in the county of Surrey, England, married Dec. 5, 1593, Mary Wood. They seem to have been of good standing in society. He died in England. Children:

John, d. young.

Christopher, bp. in Dorking, Feb. 18, 1599.

One daughter, perhaps more.

The above record, though probably correct, we are unable now to corroborate, by turning to the authority.

Among the grantees of Hampton were "Christo: Hussey" and

"Mary Hussey, vidua," between whom no relationship is shown by the records. Their homes were on opposite sides of the Meeting-house Green. It has been stated and it is generally believed that they were mother and son. This is probable enough, though proof seems to be lacking.

In the apportionment of house-lots in 1640, Widow Mary Hussey received five acres, bounded north by other five acres of Mary Hussey, east by the house-lot of William Marston, south by the Meeting-house Green and west by the house-lot of Philemon Dalton. This was very nearly where the town-house now stands.

"Widow Mary Hussey, 5 : 2 mo ; 1648, sells to John Woodin three lots of land (fifteen acres), of which ten acres between Philemon Dalton and William Marston, to hold jointly with her during her natural life, and after her death to belong wholly to him and his heirs and assigns forever." Woodin sold this property to Thomas Coleman in 1657, and the same year the latter sold to Joseph Merry. Merry's attorneys sold to Benjamin Church ; Church sold to Francis Jenness, in 1672 ; and in 1674 Jenness sold to John Smith, the tailor.

Early in 1650 seats were assigned in the meeting-house to "ould mistris husse" and "her dafter husse." No daughter is named on the records. Widow Mary Hussey died "16 : 4 mo [June 16] : 1660."

Assuming that Mary Hussey was the widow of John Hussey, of Dorking, several queries arise. Is there any significance in the similarity of the names, Wood and Woodin? Were they originally one, and was John Woodin a relative? Was Theodate Hussey, wife or daughter of Christopher (whichever of them was the survivor in 1650), or his elder daughter, Mary, the "dafter husse," to whom a seat was assigned in the meeting-house? When Thomas Coleman bought the place, had Widow Hussey gone over to the "Falls side," to spend her last years with her son Christopher?

II. CHRISTOPHER HUSSEY, Deacon, Captain, probably son of John (1), was born in Dorking, England, in 1595 or 1596. Of his early education and employments we know nothing ; nor can we tell when his father died. With many of his countrymen, he was driven by religious persecution to Holland, perhaps among the parishioners of Rev. Stephen Bachiler (1). It is said that when Christopher Hussey wished to marry that clergyman's daughter, Theodate, he, having determined to emigrate to America, would consent to the union only on condition that the young couple would emigrate also. The marriage took place in England, but whether before or after the sojourn in Holland is not known.

Mr. Hussey, with his wife (and widowed mother?) arrived at Charlestown, Mass., it is supposed on the 23rd of July, 1630, in the "William and Francis," which sailed from Southampton sometime in May. Two years later they welcomed to their home in Saugus (Lynn), Mrs. Hussey's father and some others of the family, with other friends and acquaintances from their native land. Rev. Mr. Bachiler, as we have seen, immediately established his church in Lynn. It is affirmed that on his first Sabbath there, he baptized four children; that, being asked to baptize Thomas Newhall first, as he was the first white child born in Lynn, he refused, saying he would baptize his own child first — his grandson, Stephen Hussey, the second white child born in Lynn, then nearly two years old.

After the migratory movements noted in our Ecclesiastical History, we find Christopher Hussey and Widow Mary Hussey in Mr. Bachiler's company at Hampton, as grantees of the town. Mr. Hussey was the first deacon of the church already established, and a prominent and influential man. His first home was on the site of Mr. Anthony Emery's, of more recent date, opposite that of his son Isaac Emery, of to-day; but his farm (one of the "five farms") was on the Falls side of the town; and thither he removed after a few years. "Capt. Hussey, 6: 2mo [April 6]: 1650, sells to Stephen Sanborn and Samuel Fogg, their heirs, &c— all his houses and house-lots &c— in Hampton."

Deacon Hussey was a captain in the militia and a magistrate; town-clerk, selectman and representative; and when New Hampshire was made a royal province, he was one of the councillors named in the royal commission.

His wife, Theodate (probably) died Oct. 20, 1649 (though it is possible that it was his daughter Theodate, whose death at that date is recorded). He married, second, Dec. 9, 1658, Ann, widow of Jeffery Mingay (1), who died June 24, 1680. A few more years passed, and Captain Hussey, having rounded out ninety years in an honorable and distinguished career, died Mar. 6, 1686; "buried 8 March," as stated on the Town Records. Captain Henry Dow wrote in cipher in his diary for Monday, Mar. 8, that he was "at Captain Hussey's burial." It is therefore certain that he died in Hampton, and was not, as stated by Savage, cast away off the coast of Florida. Children:

JENNESS.

This name is often written JENNINGS on the early records, suggesting that Jenness and Jennings, now considered distinct names, may have been originally one. It is not known when Francis Jenness, the ancestor of the Hampton families, came nor whence he emigrated. There was a RICHARD JENNINGS, born in Ipswich, England, who came to this country in 1636 and returned in 1639. Possibly Francis was from the same place—possibly his son—though this is merely conjecture. Francis Jenness, born about 1634, is styled "seaman" and "baker." His name first appears on the Hampton records in 1670, when he married Hannah Swaine. It seems probable that he lived at the settlement for a time and moved up to what is now Rye in 1674, and that his land there was laid out to him the next year (p. 182). The following transactions are entered in detail on the old Norfolk County Records:

Feb. 6, 1672, Francis Jenness, of Hampton, bought of Benjamin Church, of Duxbury, the Widow Mary Hussey place, which on the 27th of the same month he reconveyed to Church, but probably only mortgaged it, since two years later it was still in his hands, and sold by him, as follows: "Francis Jenins of Hampton, Oct. 1, 1674, for £72, sells to John Smith (Tailor) his dwelling-house and house lot of 5 acres, & 5 acres more adjoining, bounded W. by land of Samuel Dalton; E. by land of W<sup>m</sup> Marston; on the South abutting upon a common way or land commonly called y<sup>e</sup> Ring, & on the North by land of W<sup>m</sup> Marston & Tho: Page." This may have been about the time he settled on the land, already his, in the northeast part of the town, which has ever since been held in the Jenness name. A few days later he conveyed a part of this Rye land to his two little children, Thomas and Hannah, as follows:

Francis Jenness, of Hampton, from love and affection, conveys to "my two children, Thomas and Hannah Jenness, 60 acres in the North Division lying neare to y<sup>e</sup> sea aboue y<sup>e</sup> long stony beach towards Pascataqua, being 3 shares lying together," two of them bought of Isaac Godfrey and one belonging to his house-lot, of which, Thomas to have 20 acres besides what had been made sure to him by a former deed; and Hannah to have 40 acres after the death of the grantor's wife, Hannah Jenness. He makes his "father-in-law [his wife's step-father], Moses Cox, feelee in trust," etc., Oct. 10, 1674.

The "former deed" referred to is as follows: "Moses Cox, of Hampton, Dec. 30, 1672, for a valuable sum of money and other considerations, sells to Francis Jenness, of Hampton, and his son, Thomas Jenness, all his right, title and interest in a tract of land to be hereafter laid out (of about 50 acres), it being the right of two shares in the cow common in a late division of land called y<sup>e</sup> North Division, abutting upon Portsm<sup>o</sup> bounds towards the north & extending southward towards Hampton Meet<sup>s</sup> house — the 63 lot in number, bounded on the East by a grant to Edward Gove and on the West by a grant to Abraham Perkins."

It is said that when Francis Jenness went up to Rye, he cleared a piece of land by cutting down the forest and burning it over; then sowed wheat; put up a gristmill and a bake-house; reaped and ground his grain; made bread; took it in a boat to Boston and sold it. This land is now owned by J. Disco and Sheridan Jenness; and there is still a gristmill on the old site. (See Chap. xxxi—Rye Mills.)

I. FRANCIS JENNESS, born about 1634, settled in Hampton within the present limits of Rye. His sons, John and Richard, and perhaps Hezekiah, lived in the same part of the town. ## JOHNSON.

I. EDMUND JOHNSON and his wife, Mary, were in Hampton in 1639. In June of the following year, he received from the town a house-lot and some other tracts of land; and in 1646 three shares in the cow common. His house-lot included the homestead of the late John Johnson, and extended to the "Academy road," taking in the southern part of John A. Nudd's field, the house-lot of Nathaniel Johnson and the cemetery near it. Besides this was a small grant on the other side of the road—"abought thirtye rod which his house stand of [on] in the meeting house green layeing neere upon a square, Joyning up to a common way towards the east—otherwise the green goeth round about it." [Laid out in September.] "Bro: Crosse wth 5 other brethren are appointed to sett out unto Edm: Johnson a little ground about his house, not prejudicing the beasts going to drinke in the Runne."

Edmund Johnson's home lot was given by him to his two sons, Peter and James, the latter having the eastern part, which came down to the late John Johnson by heirship and is now George A. Johnson's (of another family), by purchase. James Johnson's house stood a few rods south of the one now on the lot. Edmund Johnson died Mar. 10, 1651, and his widow married, second, Thomas Coleman (1). Children:

Peter (2), bp. at Winnacunnet early in 1639. If he was b. here, he was prob. the first white child b. in the town, though that distinction is claimed for Abraham Perkins (6). He m. Ruth Moulton; was drowned, with James Philbrick, Nov. 16, 1674.

C. T. Libbey, Esq., of Portland, says: He probably learned his trade of Henry Sayward, in Hampton, and removed with him to York, as one of his workmen. In 1669, he is described as of York, in a grant of land to "Henry Sayward, James Johnson and Thomas Patty." A document signed by him Dec. 23, 1670, gives his residence again as Hampton. May 28, 1683, James Johnson, of Hampton, bought ten acres of land at Spruce Creek; and Apr. 5, 1685, James Johnson, of Hampton, mill-wright, bought of John Shapleigh, of Kittery, one-fourth of a mill on Spruce Creek. Oct. 26, 1699, Enoch Hutchins, of Kittery, deeded property to "Mr. James Johnson, of the same place, millwright." June 25, 1700, other parties deeded to the same. His death is entered on the town records of Hampton and he probably died here. He left no will, but his heirs made a division deed of the property, according to his known wishes. His son Samuel received all his Kittery lands; his homestead, lands in Hampton and personal property went to the other children. His widow died Jan., 1718. Children:

James (6), b. Feb. 4, 1677; m. Elizabeth Mason; d. Nov. 6, 1752.

LAMPREY.

HENRY LAMPREY, born in England about 1616, came to America, with his wife, Julien, or Gillyen, as it is written in the Town Records; lived several years in Boston, and about 1660 removed to Hampton. He is said to have been a cooper, by trade. He died Aug. 7, 1700, aged eighty-four years, according to a deposition in 1666, in which he calls himself fifty years old. His wife died May 10, 1670.

A pretty story (of the truth of which there is little doubt) has been handed down from generation to generation, that this little wife received for her marriage dowry a scale, containing her weight (one hundred twelve pounds) in gold. The chest which held the treasure is still preserved, being now owned by the children of the late Morris Lamprey, Esq., of St. Paul, Minn.

I. HENRY LAMPREY and his wife, Gillyen, had children :

Henry, b. ab. 1641; m. July 24, 1646, Elizabeth Mitchell; lived in Stratham; was a signer of a petition from the inhabitants to the Gov. and Council in 1709, asking to be incorporated as a town. Perhaps this is the Henry who was of Exeter, in 1666. The H. Records give the birth of but one ch. : Mary, b. Aug., 1692.

Daniel. There is a tradition that he never married, but remained on the homestead and had for a housekeeper "a kinswoman," to whom he gave the easterly half of his house-lot, which she afterwards sold to (John?) Knowles. But it is found that Daniel Lamprey was allowed from the treasury of the province, in 1711, "his debenter, for money paid Roger Swaine, for entertaining his son, being sick in the [military] service, fifteen shillings," and from an account, in 1710, it appears that the name of the son was Benjamin. (Prov. Pap., III: 422, 469.)

MRS. RUTH (LAMPREY) CADLE.

Though the family of Samuel Lamprey went to Orford before the birth of the youngest child, Ruth, yet Hampton cannot afford to relinquish her claim on one whose life was so fruitful in grand results.

While she was a member of Union Academy, in Canaan, Governor Lowe, of Iowa, wrote Governor Slade, of New Hampshire, who was president of "The Society for the Promotion of Education at the West," to send a teacher to Bloomington (now Muscatine), Iowa. Furnished with certificates, one of which, signed by Edmund Toppan, Esquire, testified to her success as a teacher in Hampton, Ruth Lamprey answered the summons; taught for two years; fearlessly stood by the abolitionist and the slave; and gained strength and influence for the momentous future. Then she married.

Her husband, Deacon Cadle, was like-minded with herself. When the cholera epidemic raged through the Mississippi valley, in 1852, both labored incessantly, and often so nearly alone that, with their own hands, they nursed and laid out the victims by the hundred. But it was during the war that Mrs. Cadle's wonderful talents as organizer and executive were impressed upon the state of Iowa and its soldiery. She helped make the uniforms for the first two companies enlisted; organized and presided over the Soldiers' Aid Society of Muscatine County, — a society that not only made bandages and lint and delicate cookery for the hospitals, but planted and raised for the Iowa soldiers a steamboat load of potatoes, probably ten thousand bushels; and largely through her influence, did other works on as grand a scale. She was one of the prime movers and managers in the great Sanitary Fair, in Muscatine, that netted over twenty-five thousand dollars for the Sanitary Commission; was one of the incorporators of the Iowa Soldiers' Orphans' Home, since made a state institution; and to her, more than to any other, was due the erection of the first soldiers' monument in the state.

The same spirit of philanthropy characterized all her later years.

LOCKE.

JOHN LOCKE, Captain, came, according to tradition, from Yorkshire,

England, and settled first in Dover. The first notice of him on record, however, is in Portsmouth, where a house-lot was granted him in 1656. It was probably in the spring of 1666 that he settled, without permission of the town, on land belonging to Hampton, on Jocelyn's Neck, now a part of Rye. He was, about a year and a half afterward, admitted as an inhabitant, by vote of the town. He married about 1652, Elizabeth, daughter of William Berry. He was killed by Indians, Aug. 26, 1696, aged, as is supposed, about seventy years. His widow was living in Feb. 1707.

The tragedy of Captain Locke's death occurred during King William's war, when men went armed, to their daily work. It is said that, having stood his gun against a rock, he was reaping grain, when several Indians crept stealthily up behind and shot him with his own weapon. Supposing him dead, they rushed upon him, for his scalp, when he revived, struck out with his sickle and cut off the nose of one of the Indians. Years afterward, a son of his met a noseless Indian in Portsmouth; the recognition was mutual; but whether vengeance followed, we are not informed. The following incomplete, and, as the compiler remarks, in some particulars probably erroneous record of his children is from THE BOOK OF THE LOCKES, by John G. Locke. Children:

He engaged in trade, on Water street, the firm name being Lovering & Prescott. Subsequently, he was cashier of the Exeter Bank. In February, 1860, he was appointed Superintendent of the folding room, in Washington, D. C.; and two years later, was appointed Collector of Internal Revenue, which office he held for about eight years. In 1870 he took the census of Exeter, Hampton, North Hampton and Newcastle. The twelve years previous to his death, he was a United States appraiser in the Boston Custom-House. He represented Exeter in the Legislature in 1855, '56 and '57; was town clerk in 1847, '48 and '49; moderator in 1856 and '57. He was a charter member of Sagamore Lodge, No. 9, I. O. O. F. of Exeter.

Mr. Lovering was a most efficient government official, being in that service nearly a quarter of a century, and handling millions of dollars for the government, as Internal Revenue Collector.

In politics, he was a Republican, and was a leader in his party, shaping many of the nominations for public office in New Hampshire, and always refusing to be a candidate himself, although pressed to run for Congress several times.

He always took great interest in Hampton; and during the later years of his life, in company with the late General Gilman Marston, would annually, on the Fourth of July, visit many of the older people of the town, relating reminiscences of boyhood life, the incidents of which, he always cherished with pleasure.

He died in Exeter, at the age of sixty-seven years, ten months.

MARSTON.

Among the early settlers, who received grants of land, were Robert and William Marston, whose relationship to each other, if any existed, is not known.

ROBERT MARSTON's house-lot, seven acres more or less, bounded by Robert Page's on the west, and a common way on the east, abutting upon the Meeting-house Green toward the south and the common toward the north, was the same that is now owned by Jeremiah Marston. In 1641 Robert received three acres of meadow ; "neere the Boares head." June 30, 1643, another house-lot of five acres was granted to him, which seems to have been obtained for Simon Marston, who was probably his son. This was the present De Lancey place, separated from his former lot only by the "common way." Towards the close of that year, Robert Marston died. In 1644 William Moulton, who lived at Robert Page's (next lot west of Marston's) and married his daughter not far from this time, obtained "ten acres of upland in the North playne Bought of Rob : Masten haler—Symont Masten by name," and other land, including both the house-lots granted to Robert Marston. As there is nothing more on record regarding Simon, it is likely that he went away or died. William Moulton settled on the easterly lot (De Lancey), and afterwards sold the other to Richard Knight, who had a gristmill at the Landing for a number of years, but eventually removed to York, Me. Oct. 5, 1653, Knight sold it to Thomas Marston, son of William Sen., and thence it descended in direct line, through Ephraim, Jeremiah, Jeremiah, Daniel, Jeremiah, to the present Jeremiah.

I. WILLIAM MARSTON, Captain, born about 15 —, the ancestor of all the Hampton Marstons, was married and had several children before his emigration. He came to Hampton soon after the settlement was commenced. Land was granted to him as early as June 30, 1640, and it is probable that a house-lot had been assigned to him earlier. He lived near the present site of the town-house (now owned by Frank Green). There are reasons for believing that he had a wife living in 1651 and that she died not many years afterward. He died June 30, 1672, leaving a widow named Sabina, who was the executrix of his will. She had borne him one child, but it is evident that his other children were by a former marriage. His widow married, second, John Redman (1). Children :

MASON.

JOHN MASON, the earliest known settler of the name in Hampton, was a deputy marshal in 1684 (p. 111). He probably left but one son, who seems not to have had a family here. His descendants in Hampton are through his eldest daughter. About thirty years later came Robert, from whom the Hampton Masons are descended. A dozen more years and Nathaniel appears, whose descendants here are in the female line. The relationship among these three men—and their origin are unknown. There was a Joseph Mason, a witness, at Hampton, in 1645; but whether or not he was a resident is not known and nothing further has been found concerning him.

I. JOHN MASON married July 11, 1672, Elizabeth, daughter of Thomas Ward (1). He died Feb. 29, 1696. Children:

MOULTON.

Among the grantees and first settlers of Hampton are found the names of John and Thomas Moulton, whose relationship to each other is not known. They had assigned to them adjoining house-lots; and were neighbors more than fifteen years, till the latter sold his homestead and other estate and removed to Maine. His house-lot was the one now owned and occupied by Walter J. Palmer.

John Moulton and Anne, his wife, were from Ormsby, in the county of Norfolk, England. They came to New England in the spring of 1637, having then five children, one son and four daughters. Another son, born afterward, was baptized at Newbury, Mass., and a daughter was born and baptized after their settlement in Hampton. His house-lot lay on the west side of that of Thomas, and was transmitted in his family down to Daniel Moulton, of the sixth generation, who sold the larger part of it in 1866, and the rest more than twenty years later.

Soon after the settlement of the town, we find, also, another of the name living here, viz.: William Moulton, the same, without doubt, that had, in 1637, come from Ormsby with the family of Robert Page, in the capacity of a servant, he being then twenty years old. He married, and lived near Mr. Page's residence, on the lot now owned by the DeLancey family. His descendants and those of John Moulton are numerous in this vicinity.

I. THOMAS MOULTON, born in England; of Newbury, 1637; came to Hampton, 1638; removed to York, Me., about 1654. His wife's name was Martha. Children, as far as known:

Thomas, bp. Nov. 24, 1689. Daniel, bp. Feb. 18, 1641.
 Mary, b. Jan. 25, 1651. Wm. b. 1651
 Hannah, b. June 19, 1655; [m. Samuel Tilton (2)?].

II. JOHN MOULTON, born in England, about 1599; married Anne ———; immigrated, 1637; settled at Winnacunnet, 1638; freeman, May 22, 1639; was chosen the first deputy or representative of the town to the General Court at Boston, the next September. He died between Jan. 23, 1649, the date of his will, and Oct. 1, 1650, when it was proved, his age being about fifty years. Anne, his widow, died Apr. 12, 1668, aged sixty-eight years. Children :

Henry (4), b. ab. 1628; m. Sobriety Hilton; d. Sept. 8, 1701.

Mary, b. in Eng.; m. William Sanborn (8); d. Oct. 11, 1686.

Bridget, } twins, b. in Eng., ab. 1634; both d., unm., Mar. 19, 1699.

Ruth, bp. at H., Mar. 7, 1641; m. Peter Johnson (2); d. Sept. 7, 1718.

The twins, Jane and Bridget, for many years lived in a small house built for them by the roadside, near the site of Mr. Joseph Johnson's barn. Anecdotes illustrative of some peculiarities in their temperament and character have been handed down by tradition. There is also preserved (N. H. Hist. Soc. Col. III: 122,) a letter of Rev. Cotton Mather, to a gentleman of London, in 1716, wherein he says of them :

"At Hampton, a Town about Fifty miles from this place (Boston), there were Twin sisters, whose names were Bridget and Jane Moulton. The perpetual Harmony and Sympathy between the sisters was the observation of all the neighbourhood. They were never contented except they were together. If the one were desirous to go abroad, the other would be impatient of staying at home. If the one were merry, the other would be airy. If the one were troubled, the other would be chagrin [ed]. When one was for carding, the other was for spinning. For their Dispositions and Satisfaction there was a very strange Agreement betwixt them. The particulars wherein every body with pleasure and wonder saw how they were agreed, and how like your famous Twins of Hippocrates, which you tell us would Plere et Ridere simul [weep and laugh at the same time], were numberless. They lived a Virgin life, and in this good accord, reached about three-score years. Then Death after a short sickness arrested the one of them. The other grew full of pain, and bid her friends not be in a hurry about her sister's funeral for her's must accompany it. By dying within a few hours after her sister, she answered their expectations. Mr. John Cotton, the worthy minister of the place, preached a Funeral sermon for this occasion on those words, 2 Samuel 1: 23, 'In their Death they were not divided.'"

III. WILLIAM MOULTON, born in England, about 1617; married Margaret, daughter of Robert Page (1); died Apr. 18, 1664. Their children :

OLIVER.

I. RICHARD OLIVER's name is on the Court Records as of Hampton, Oct. 9, 1666. In August of that year, Edward Colcord had mortgaged property to him. An Indian child was bound to him by action of the court. In 1667, James Pendleton, of Portsmouth, sold to Richard Oliver, of Hampton, "a house & p<sup>r</sup>cell of land formerly in possession of Nath<sup>l</sup> Boulter, of H. & set off by execution to s<sup>d</sup> Pendleton."

June 16, 1667, William Taylor and wife, Anne, of Exeter, sold to Richard Oliver twenty acres of land near Ass brook. Boulter had formerly lived in Exeter, and perhaps the house and parcel of land conveyed to Oliver adjoined the Taylor property near Ass brook. It was not probably Boulter's home on Rand's hill, for that was sold by Pendleton to John Smith, the tailor, in 1678.

At the Hampton Court, Oct. 8, 1667, "Mr. Richard Oliver, being presented for fighting wth Jno Redman & breakeing y<sup>e</sup> peace, did in court acknowledge y<sup>e</sup> same: the court fines him for his offence 6<sup>s</sup> 8<sup>d</sup>."

I. ROBERT PAGE, the first of the name in Hampton, was a son of Robert and Margaret Page, of Ormsby, in the county of Norfolk, England, where he was born about 1604. His wife's name was Lucy. The record of their examination, April 11, 1637, preparatory to leaving England, gives his age as thirty-three years, and hers as thirty years. They, with three children, "Francis, Margaret and Susanna, and two sarvants, William Moulton aged 20 years and Anne Wadd, 15 years, were desirous to passe into New England to inhabitt." He settled in Hampton in 1639, having received a grant of ten acres of land for a house-lot, lying Uetween the house-lots of William Marston, on the west, and Robert Marston, on the east, abutting on the Meeting house Green. on the south, and other land of his, on the north. This is still the home of the daughters of Josiah Page, a descendant, of the sixth generation.

Goodman Page was one of the selectmen six years. He represented the town in the General Court of Massachusetts, two years; was at one time marshal of the old county of Norfolk. He was also a member of various committees raised by the town from time to time. PERKINS.

A few months after the settlement of the town, there were living in Hampton, two men of the name of Perkins, with their families.

According to tradition, these men, Abraham and Isaac, were brothers—which is very probable, though we may not be able to verify it. They appear to have come at nearly the same time, and the house-lots, assigned to them by the town, adjoined each other, each containing five acres. Isaac's house was on nearly the site of the Baptist parsonage, and Abraham's between that and the corner lot westward, which then belonged to William English.

I. ABRAHAM PERKINS, born about 1613, was admitted freeman May 13, 1640. In January preceding, the town granted him eighty acres of land; and in 1646, three shares in the commons. He was often employed in business for others and for the town. His handwriting is remarkably neat and legible, and is more modern in appearance than most of the old penmanship. He was marshal in 1654. He seems to have remained through life where he first settled. He died suddenly, Aug. 31, 1683, aged seventy years. His wife, Mary, died May 29, 1706, aged eighty-eight years. Their children:

Mary, bp. Dec. 15, 1639; m. Giles Fifield (2).

PHILBRICK.—PHILBROOK.

I. THOMAS PHILBRICK was married and had children, who were grown up before his emigration. On his arrival in New England, he went to Watertown and after a few years' residence there, the whole family removed to Hampton, though not all at the same time. The order in which the children are here named may not be the order of their births. His wife Elizabeth died Feb. 19, 1664. It has never since been alienated; is now owned by John A. Philbrick, of the eighth generation. The deed bounded it westerly, by William Fifield (now, heirs of Alfred J. Léavitt); easterly, by John Brown (now Zaccheus Brown). After the above conveyance, Sergeant Philbrick removed to the south part of the town, now Seabrook, and settled on what is known as the Joseph Philbrick place.

He engaged much in town business, as selectman, surveyor, lot-layer, and in other capacities. From 1690 to 1700, his books show him to have been trading between Martha's Vineyard and Hampton, in lumber, wool, hides, spices, molasses, iron and wooden ware, cloths, cutlery and other merchandises. He was once taken on the high seas, by a French privateer, which captured his vessel as a prize. A storm arising, he magnanimously guided his captors to safe harborage, and in gratitude, they gave him back his vessel. During the storm, he begged them to spare an old Bible they were about to throw overboard. That Bible is now owned by Joseph A. Philbrick. It is printed in black letter, and was published in 1583. ## THE SAMBORNE FAMILY IN ENGLAND.

BY V. C. SANBORN, CHICAGO, ILL.

The name Samborne, spelt also Sambourne and Sandbourne, is found in England as the name of a place and as a family name. As the name of a place: (A) In Warwickshire; — a hamlet a few miles from Alcester, of which Dunsdale says: "Of this place, having its original denomination from that little sandy brook, nigh unto which it stands, I find very ancient mention, viz., in anno DCCXIV, it being then (inter gliis) given to the monks of Evesham, by Egwin, Bishop of Worcester, upon the foundation thereof." (B) In Worcestershire; in the parish of Kiddeminster. (C) In Yorkshire; mentioned in Bawden's Domesday for Yorkshire: "In Sabura (Sanburn) there are three carucates: Ralph Paganel holds it. The canons say they themselves had it in the time of Edward." (A carucate is about 100 acres). (D) The name Sombourn exists also in Hampshire — possibly an allied name.

As a family name: If the name of this family were taken from their lands, that fact would be indicated in old records prior to 1800; but none such yet appear, except that, in 1211, the Wiltshire "Placito" speak of a Julian de Saudeburne, which may be a mistake for Sandeburne. The next mention of the name is in 1333, Robert de Sambourne being that year incumbent in Somersetshire. After 1350 the name appears more frequently and there are several pedigrees in the Heralds' Visitations. There appear to have been two branches of the family:—one, settled at Sunning, in Oxfordshire; the other, at Timsbury, in Somersetshire. [See Gen. Reg., July, 1885.]

The arms of the Samborne families are the same, viz.: Argent, a chevron sable between three mullets gules, pierced or. Three crests are given: 1. Samborne,—a dexter hand holding a sheaf of arrows, all ppr. 2. Samborne of Moultsford, Berks., a bull's head holding in the mouth three ears of wheat, all ppr. 3. Samborne of Timsbury House, a mullet gules, pierced or.

The following pedigree is compiled from various sources, and brings the family down to the generation following that of John (?) Samborne, the father of the three American emigrants.

I. WILLIAM SAMBOURNE, of Sunning, Oxfordshire, born about 1390; married Anne, daughter and heir of Sir William Lushell, Kt. Children: William (2), born about 1420. John (3?), born about 1425. (I have given John and William as brothers, although no proof has yet been found of this.)

XV. JOHN SAMBORNE, supposed to be the father of the first three American Sambornes—described in the London Visitation of 1687, as a merchant, with his brother Richard (18). The Sambornes in England were very few, in 1620, and indeed, no branches have been traced, except those given above.

John Samborne was born about 1590, and probably removed to London with his two brothers by 1615; but the family ties were in Dorsetshire, the next county to Hampshire, where lived Rev. Stephen Bachiler, whose daughter married the father of the first three American Sambornes. In 1630–31 we find her a widow, living in the Strand, in London (Waters' Gleanings).

SANBORN.

John, William and Stephen Sanborn, brothers, were grandsons of Mr. Steven Bachiler, the first pastor of the church in Hampton. Ac-

<sup>1</sup> The State Papers between 1650 and 1660 contain frequent references to these brothers, who were merchants in France and loyalists who aided in the Restoration. Thomas was in Morlaix and John, in Rouen and Caen. Clarendon's State Papers contain letters which passed between the Lord Chancellor and John Samborne, who appears to have been high in favor with the court. "Petition, dated July, 1660, of Thomas and John Samborne, merchants, for the nomination of one of them as commissioner in the Excise Office. They have done great service in the late war, in relieving persons of quality and others related to His Majesty; they have had several commissions from the late and present king; supplied munitions, etc., to the value of £25,000; were banished and sold their inheritance, for fear of sequestration. On the king's escape from Worcester and landing in Rouen, John Samborne was the only person to whom he trusted the secret of his arrival," etc., etc. [Cal. State Papers, 1660.]

According to tradition, their father died in England, leaving these sons and their mother to the care of Mr. Bachiler, her father, and they all came to New England with him in 1632, and about six years later, to Hampton. Such is probably the general belief; but no evidence is found that the mother of these young men ever came to America. It seems pretty evident that her home was not in Hampton at the time of "seating the meeting house," in the early part of 1651, as no seat was then provided for her; and her name is not found in the recorded list of deaths in the town; nor is any allusion made to her in any of the old papers examined.

The three brothers named were here and all of them in possession of house-lots as early as 1644. Their names are all on a tax-list of 1658, and all held town offices. Stephen, however, did not make Hampton his permanent home. In 1655 he resigned the office of selectman several months before the expiration of his term, for the purpose, it is said, of accompanying his grandfather Bachiler in his return to England. The date of leaving New England is not known.

John Sanborn, one of the immigrants, received for a house-lot, partly by grant from the town, and partly by gift from his grandfather, Mr. Bachiler, four acres of land, which appears to have been a part of what constituted the homestead, in later years, of Dea. Alvin Emery. His house is said to have stood a few rods further west than the one now on the lot.

William's house-lot is described in the Town Records, as follows: "1. Imp<sup>r</sup> five acres of upland for a house lott: and three quarters of an acre of ground aded to the south end therof: layeing together between the grownd of John Browns toward the east, & the grownd of Aquila Chases, sometimes Steven Sanborns in p<sup>t</sup>: & grownd of William filds sometimes the afore[sayd] Steuen Samborns in p<sup>t</sup> toward the west; abutting upon a commonway toward the north; & a certaine swamp toward the south: more or lesse as it is layd out." This is now John A. Philbrick's homestead.

Stephen's house-lot, sometime before 1644, was on the westerly side of his brother William's; but at that date, it appears to have passed out of his possession. In 1653, he was probably living near his brother John.

SMITH.

Two families of Smith, descended respectively from Robert and John, whose relationship to each other, if any, is unknown, are found early in Hampton. Robert is thought to have been living in Boston in 1638, when our town was settled; while John, if born, must have been a boy, in the island home of his parents.

Two individuals of the name, not apparently connected with either family, were also living here at an early period. From the mention of both among the people concerned in the witchcraft trials, it seems probable that they may have been brother and sister. These were Nathaniel and Ann Smith.

The Salisbury Court Records contain the following, dated Apr. 10, 1677: "Nathaniel Smith being given to Dea. W<sup>m</sup> Godfrey & his wife Margerie as their own & they having kept him from a child, Dea. Godfrey being now dead & his widow having married John Marian, the court order that Smith shall continue & abide wth the s<sup>d</sup> Marion & wife until he comes to y<sup>e</sup> age of one & twenty years & shall do them faithful service."

Nathaniel Smith, "aged about twenty years," was one of the witnesses in the trial of Goody Fuller, for murdering John Godfrey's child by witchcraft (p. 85). His deposition was taken July 14, 1680. On the thirty-first of the same month, an inquest was held on his dead body, and the verdict rendered was: "We found him in a canoe at the landing place, with his face bloody; and we, washing and searching him, do judge that water was the cause of his death, by drowning."

Ann Smith was alleged to be a victim of Goody Cole's wiles (p. 80). The year that Goody Cole died, Ann Smith, probably the same Ann, married Israel Clifford (4).

Henry Smith is also mentioned (p. 363).

I. ROBERT SMITH, born about 1611, was of Exeter, and a signer of the Combination, in 1639. He settled in Hampton as early as 1657, his homestead being where Joseph Johnson now lives. TOWLE.

Philip Towle, the patriarch of the Towle families, now numerous in New England and elsewhere, came to Hampton as early as 1657. He is said to have been of Irish extraction; and the locality in Hampton largely owned and settled by his posterity, was on that account, early called Ireland, a name it still retains. The time and place of his embarkation for America are unknown. Apr. 15, 1664, he bought, as is expressed in his deed, "one messuage, or dwelling-house, with other out-housing therevnto belonging; as also a house Lott adjoining thereunto, containing by estimacōon seven acres and a halfe more or less (being formerly the house and land of Henry Ambrose) butting upon the highway leading to Exiter with one end, and with the other end upon the land of John Marian, liyng between the lands of the sayd John Marian on the west and the land of Jasper Blake easterly." The house-lot here described has ever since remained in the Towle family, and is now John A. Towle's homestead. Before he settled down to farming, Mr. Towle probably led a sea-faring life, as in the deed he is styled "seaman." On one occasion, he and five others, "for taking tobacco neare y<sup>e</sup> meeting house in y<sup>e</sup> face of y<sup>e</sup> court, were fined, each of them, ten shillings according to law."

"Mr. Caleb Towle, whom we noticed [in a former number] as being remarkable for corpulency, died at Centre Harbor, on the 1st of October, at the age of fifty-six. An extraordinary increase of flesh is supposed to have been the cause of his death. NANCY TOWLE, third child of Col. Philip, was of an ardent temperament, and when she was converted, in 1818, all her enthusiasm took the form of religious devotion. Having attended the Academy for some time, she became a teacher, but soon felt called to preach. She made her first attempt to speak from a text at a meeting in Stratham. According to her own account, she was frightened and made a failure of it, but persevered till she acquired more confidence.

In 1822 she "felt her mind strongly drawn toward the south; and, with her Bible as her only companion, took stage for Gloucester and other towns in Rhode Island and Connecticut," where the "steeple-houses" of several denominations were thrown open to her. After making several such tours, in the course of which she often met with Harriet Livermore, she went (in 1828) into the British possessions—near Eastport and as far as St. John, holding revival meetings. At the latter city, she first began to think of crossing the ocean, and with this plan in view, went to Halifax, N. S., in December, and after preaching there about six weeks, journeyed on to Lunenburg and Liverpool. Here the hoped-for opportunity came, "kind friends of these regions being pleased to defray the expense of the voyage." Miss Towle and one companion sailed in June, 1829, and after a passage of three weeks, were kindly received at the greater Liverpool, on the other side.

In Ireland, they found rougher treatment—"Some of Dow's followers," the people said, and shut their "preaching-houses;" though a few heard them gladly.

In this year 1829 Miss Towle visited famine-stricken London; and returned the next year to America, landing in Philadelphia, and making a continuous preaching tour towards home, arriving in Hampton after an absence of three and a half years, and having travelled nearly fifteen thousand miles. But the next autumn she was on the wing again—this time to Ohio, to combat the Mormons, lately arisen. She attended their meetings, read the book of Mormon and denounced the apostle, Smith, to his face.

She went South the next year, visiting Richmond about the same time with Lorenzo Dow and Harriet Livermore. In May she received news of her brother Philip's death, in Charleston, S. C., and love drew her on, to visit his grave and erect a monument to his memory.

In 1833 Miss Towle published a small book, entitled: "VICISSITUDES ILLUSTRATED, in the Experience of Nancy Towle, in Europe and America." The same year she went to Montreal, and the year following, began the publication of "THE FEMALE RELIGIOUS ADVOCATE," in New York city. But this did not long survive.

Impressions of her foreign travels remained longest in memory and glorified the phantasms of her later years, when, her over-taxed system shattered, her useful labors closed, the still restless soul kept up the hopeful refrain: "The good ship is coming—we're going to-morrow."

TRUE.

I. HENRY TRUE married Mar. 16, 1668, Jane Bradbury. Child: Mary, b. May 30, 1668.

TUCK.

The name, Tuck, was in early manuscripts written variously, Tuck, Tucke, Tewk, Took—indicating that the modern names, Tuck, Tooker, and Tewk had a common origin. Perhaps also, the family of Tuxbury, (formerly written Tewksbury), still surviving in Hampton, in the name Williams, might trace their ancestry to the borough of Tewk or Tuck, in England.

I. ROBERT TUCK came to New England from Gorleston, county Suffolk, England, in 1636, or a little earlier. He lived a short time in Watertown, and probably, also, in Salem; was one of the grantees and first settlers of Hampton; lived on Rand's hill and kept the "ordinary" (page 72); was selectman four years and town clerk three years. He died Oct. 4, 1664. His wife, Joanna, died Feb. 14, 1674. Their children, all born in England, were:

Robert, remained in England; had a family. One of his ch., named William, afterward emigrated and settled in Essex county, Ms., where many of his descendants have since lived.

Elizabeth, m. John Sherburne, of Portsmouth. Had ch.: Henry. John. Mary. Elizabeth.

Mary, m. Lieut. John Sanborn (2); d. Dec. 30, 1668.

Edward, b. Sept. 8, 1649; d. between Apr. 12, 1653, and Apr. 11, 1665.

John (3), b. Apr. 12, 1652; m. Bethia Hobbs; d. Jan. 4, 1742.

III. JOHN TUCK, Deacon, son of Edward (2), married Jan. 9, 1678, Bethia, daughter of Morris Hobbs (1). In October of the same year, Samuel Sherburne, having bought the Tuck place on Rand's hill, was licensed to keep the public house. Deacon Tuck's homestead was between Christopher G. Toppan's and the lot on which the railroad station stands. His house was near the southeast corner of the Perry garden. He owned and cultivated a considerable quantity of land. He was, however, a carpenter by trade, and after 1686, a miller (Chap. xxxi, Tuck's Mills). He was highly esteemed by his townsmen; was selectman ten years; town clerk, fifteen years; deacon of the church more than twenty-seven years. He was a diligent reader of the Bible; and read it through in course, no less than twelve times, between Feb. 13, 1677, and May 21, 1715, as appears from his diary. After the first reading is the following entry:

"The 13th day of February, 1677, I began to Reade y<sup>e</sup> Bible through and I Read it all through from y<sup>e</sup> 1st chapter of Gennessis to y<sup>e</sup> last chapter of Revelations: by y<sup>e</sup> 18th day of December, John Tucke."

After each reading, with one exception, Deacon Tuck made an entry, stating the time of finishing, and adding a passage of Scripture.

V. JONATHAN TUCK, Deacon, son of Dea. John (3), married Feb. 22, 1721, Tabitha, daughter of Benjamin Towle (4); lived on the homestead. He succeeded his father as deacon, and held the office nearly thirty-nine years; was selectman eight years; representative five years. Like many another good man, he had his eccentricities. Having inherited the gristmill on Nilus Brook, he was himself the miller. The mill was about two and a half miles from his home as the roads then were. He owned a white horse, said to have grown old in his service, which he took to mill with him day after day, not to ride, but as a pack-horse, to carry on its back the bags of corn and grain, which he took and delivered gratuitously for his customers. There were times, however, when he would not thus accommodate, nor even deign to notice any one as he passed to his mill. When the "odd fit" was on him, he seemed oblivious of everything around, and then the people asked no favors. It is traditional, that women, wishing to send grain to mill, were accustomed to go to their doors and watch his approach, being able to tell by his gait whether or not he had a "Tuck spell." If he had, they shut their doors without a word; if not, they easily obtained a favor. Children:

Mr. Tuck became principal of Hampton Academy in 1835, and remained, reading law at the same time, till the spring of 1838, when he resigned his position, devoting himself wholly to legal study with James Bell, Esq., then of Exeter. In November, 1838, he began the practice of his profession in Exeter, having previously opened an office for a short time in Hampton, and in December, 1838, became a partner in business with Mr. Bell. He was elected to Congress in 1847, and was one of the only three outspoken anti-slavery men in the House of Representatives. He was one of the founders of the Republican party; was a member of the National Convention that nominated Mr. Lincoln; served three terms in Congress; was afterwards Naval Officer in Boston. He was long a trustee of Dartmouth College and held business relations east and west, at home and abroad. But in all this wider sphere of influence, he always retained his interest in Hampton Academy, of which he was a trustee for many years; and his genial presence and kindly words were welcomed at the annual examination, whenever it was possible for him to be present. His parents, his wife and three of his children were born here, and Hampton is proud to claim him as one of her sons, though he was not himself a native of the town. Children, all by the first marriage :

WEARE.

I. NATHANIEL WEARE, Honorable, son of Nathaniel, an early proprietor of Newbury, Mass., was born in England, 1631; married Dec. 3, 1656, Elizabeth, daughter of Richard Swayne (1); lived a few years in Newbury, and in 1662 removed to Hampton, which was thenceforth his home, having received a conveyance of land from his father-in-law, who had then gone to Nantucket. Mr. Weare settled at what is now Fogg's Corner, in Seabrook, where David Chase lives. A remarkably handsome elm, which he probably set out, adorns the place. He was one of the most influential men in the town and throughout the province. We have seen how, in the troublous times of Cranfield and Mason, he went as agent twice, to England, to lay the people's grievances before the king [Chap. v]. Returning with success and honor, he resumed his offices and trusts. He served as councillor more than twenty years, and resigned at last, in 1715, on account of old age. In 1694-5, he was Chief Justice of the Supreme Court; and he continued a Justice of the Peace and Quorum till he retired from public life. JOHN M. WEARE, Colonel, Honorable, son of Joseph H. and Betsy (above), was born in Seabrook, 1814; married, 1836, Mary Morrill, daughter of David Gove, of Seabrook; settled as a farmer in that town in 1844. No children. He was Colonel of the old Third regiment (p. 300); President of Rockingham Agricultural Society, 1867-8; member of state board of agriculture, 1875-'77; member of New Hampshire Senate two years, from 1853; representative to General Court from Seabrook, 1875 and '76; notary public, 1891. He is a Justice of the Peace and Quorum throughout the state and has done a large amount of probate business.

Colonel Weare assumed the responsibility and to a great extent paid the cost of inserting the engraving of the Weare arms, seals and signatures in this work.

An original bond has come down to him, dated December 15, 1755, from Jeremiah Eastman, of Kensington, to Jonathan Weare, of Hampton Falls (great-grandfather of Colonel Weare), in the sum of £1000, lawful money, for the care and support during their natural lives and proper burial at their deaths, of "a Negro man Slave Named Jack and an Indian Woman Slave Named Bess, who were Lately the Servants of Nathaniel Weare Esq., late of Hampton Falls, deceased," for which said Jonathan Weare "hath paid to said Jeremiah Eastman £500 old tenor." The bond was witnessed by Meshech Weare and Mehetabel Weare.

VI. MESHECH WEARE, Honorable, son of Nathaniel (3), was graduated from Harvard College, 1785; studied for the ministry and preached acceptably, but was so eminently qualified for civic offices and so often elected, he gave up theology and devoted himself to public life. Though his whole public career was after Hampton Falls became a town, yet he was born several years before that event, and Hampton justly claims the honor of his nativity. It is written of him: "No name has descended to posterity with more unsullied reputation than that of Meshech Weare." And again: "His department of duty was not of the kind which builds for its faithful performer a pyramid of glory, but one of which the results are felt rather than observed by posterity. His position is rather a niche in the temple of liberty than a monument in that of fame."

That his townsmen appreciated his worth is proved by their electing him representative to the General Court year after year, from 1745 to 1755, and again from '62 to '71, and once more, in '74 and '75, till the royal government closed. During three of those years he was Speaker, and eight years, Clerk of the House. In 1754, being then a colonel in the militia, under the crown, he was appointed a delegate from the colony of New Hampshire to the Albany convention for providing means of safety against the French and securing the alliance of the Indians. Appointed a justice of the Superior Court of Judicature, in 1747, he held the office for twenty-eight years; and in 1776 was raised to the dignity of Chief Justice, retiring in 1782.

During the crucial times just before the Revolution, when men were fired with indignation for the wrongs inflicted by the mother country, and later, when the storm burst, Mr. Weare, who, in his various official capacities had been accustomed to weigh calmly and act deliberately, disapproved of many of the popular measures. He was a friend of Governor Wentworth, and for a time was believed to be inclined to the tory side. But when, in 1775, a congress was called at Exeter, for organizing a state government, Mr. Weare, in the second week of the session, took his seat as a member, and was hailed with joy, as thus committing himself to the cause of liberty and as one on whom they might safely lean. He was made a member of the committee which framed a form of government, entered upon in January, 1776, to continue during the war. By its provisions, the congress resolved itself into a House of Representatives or Assembly, and chose twelve persons, of whom Mr. Weare was one, to form a separate branch of the Legislature, called the Council, with power to elect its own president. Mr. Weare was at once chosen to the office and held it through the war. As if this were not honor enough, he was made chairman of the Committee of Safety, retaining that office, too, for the same period. Then, when the state constitution was adopted, in 1784, Hon. Meshech Weare was elected first President without a dissenting vote. Declining a reelection, he retired to private life the next year, having wielded more power in the several branches of government than were ever recorded to another, and having led gloriously through the dangers of the war and the crisis of a return to peace.

The state of New Hampshire erected a massive monument to his memory, on Hampton Falls hill, in 1853.

Hon. Meshech Weare married, first, July 20, 1738, Elizabeth, daughter of Dea. Samuel Shaw (4); second, Dec. 11, 1746, Mehetabel Wainwright, who died 1781; lived at "the Hill," on Deacon Shaw's homestead, now owned by the heirs of Zebulun Dow. Children:

wich, Connecticut, in 1845, where he carried on a family school for young ladies till 1862. He then served three years in the army, as acting assistant surgeon, having charge of hospital trains in the Southwest. In September, 1865, he returned to Norwich, and remained till 1870, when he was appointed by President Grant as United States Consul to Sheffield, England.

This appointment came to Dr. Webster unexpectedly and unsought. It was one of the most important consulships, and he filled the position with marked ability till 1886. The London papers expressed sincere regret that there should be withdrawn one who had so long represented his country with such fidelity, tact and unwavering courtesy. His relations with the manufacturers were always friendly; and though he took little part in English public life, he was interested in all benevolent and philanthropic efforts. He spent two years in travelling on the continent, and returned to the United States in 1888, reaching his native town in season to participate in the quarter-millennial anniversaries. [p. 560.]

Dr. Webster married Oct. 31, 1844, Mary Elizabeth, daughter of David Webster, of Pembroke, N. H. She died in Sheffield, Eng., Oct. 19, 1886. They had no children. His present home is in Concord, N. H., though he spends much time in Washington, D. C., and Chicago, Ill.

She was born in Boston, 1748, and died, 1827. Mr. Whipple settled in Portsmouth in 1771, and after being in practice there more than twenty years, came to Hampton, where he remained about twelve years. On the fourth of October, 1791, he bought of the heirs of Gen. Jonathan Moulton, 80½ acres of land in Hampton; and Aug. 28, 1794, obtained a quitclaim from Thomas Leavitt, executor, for £40. Between these two dates he probably came to Hampton and settled on the General Moulton homestead. While in Hampton he was moderator of sixteen town meetings, between 1794 and 1800, and of the annual meetings in 1801-2-3. In 1801 he was chosen a member of the school committee. #### [Postscript.]

JOHN GREENLEAF WHITTIER.

Among the illustrious descendants of Rev. Stephen Bachiler and Capt. Christopher Hussey, there is not one whose name is placed on these pages more reverently than that of John G. Whittier, poet and patriot. He was neither native nor resident; but scenes and legends of our town have been so often celebrated in his verse with a touch of kinship, it would seem fitting in any case, at least to offer a tribute of affection for this. But Whittier's last days on earth were spent in the home of his ancestors. At the Falls Hill, on the south side of Taylor's river, almost within flight-shot of the mansion long glorified as the house where Washington once lodged and Meshech Weare lived, stands the Gove mansion, of which future generations will reverently say: there, on the seventh of September, 1892, Whittier died.

SUPPLEMENT.

SERVICE OF HAMPTON MEN IN THE REVOLUTIONARY WAR.

The following record is gathered from New Hampshire State Papers—Revolutionary Rolls, I, II, III. A few names of men outside the present limits of the town, whose families were and in some cases still are of Hampton, are recorded (as in Chap. XIV); and as residences are not all given in the authority cited, it is quite possible that we have mistaken the identity of a few men of other towns, bearing Hampton names. Probably the full part this town bore in the Revolution will never be known; certainly our rolls are not yet nearly complete, as is shown by the single record (Vol. I; p. 556), that in March, 1777, of the men to be raised to fill up the Third regiment, Jonathan Moulton, Esqr., Colonel, Hampton's quota was one hundred sixty-seven.

The names following are of men enlisted at different times, under Captains Henry Elkins, Samuel Nay, Richard Weare (of H. F.), Moses Leavitt (of No. II.), Winthrop Rowe (of K.) and others, for service at Portsmouth and as coast guards, and at various points in Massachusetts, Rhode Island and New York:

CAPT. HENRY DOW'S DIARY.

The little leather-covered book which has been quoted (pp. 248, 367, 578), and a specimen folio of which, reduced, is represented (facing p. 679), continues, up to the latest date of possible use for this History, to baffle study as to many of its arbitrary characters. We are indebted to George Rogers Howell, M.A., of the State Library at Albany, N. Y., for the cipher alphabet and many other signs, and for a good beginning in the transliteration of the page presented. It has fallen to the editor to bring the study to its present stage, while many pages remain untouched.

This page is found to be a copy, whole or in part, of a "declaration," drawn up by Jacob Leisler, of New York, May 31, 1689, which was soon after published as a pamphlet in Boston, "but not affixed, or no copy allowed to be had." It was at the beginning of the revolution in New York, just after the seizure of Sir Edmund Andros, whose government had included that colony. Citizens and soldiers, under the lead of Capt. Jacob Leisler, Lieut. Henry Cuyler and others, seized the fort and placed Leisler in power, awaiting orders from the new sovereigns of England.

The grammatical construction of this transliteration, though bad enough, will perhaps compare favorably with that of many writings that have come down to us in plain characters. Doubtless we have made some mistakes, but the page given is substantially as follows, line for line:

An account of the proceeding at New York 1689

declaration of the inhabitants and soldiers belonging under the several compaues of the trained bands of New York

We declare that notwithstanding our several prayers and grievances these many years

under a . . . power possessed by our late popish Gov<sup>r</sup> Dongan and several of his wicked creatures and pensioners, councillors now to Left Gov<sup>r</sup>

Nicholson: we were resolved to expect with great patience our redemption from England expecting to have part of that gracious deliverance procured under God

by His Royal Highness William Henry Prince of Orange but when we challenged our liberty property and the lives we were cajoled and terrified out of our reasons but at last some being threatened by the said Lieutenant Gov<sup>r</sup>

Nicholson

and with a pistol presented against the corporal and said to the Lieutenant Cuyler that he would set the town on fire for doing our loyal duty:

we have thought fit for our security and fear to be liable to answer for the life of every Protestant that might have perished and every house burnt

or destroyed if we bear . . longer in submission and also seeing daily arrive from several parts officers and soldiers who were entertained by the said Lieutenant

Gov<sup>r</sup> Nicholson in the fort besides his several soldiers of which there was a number of papists contrary to the law of England by which new comers some of the burghers being threatened of some design against them in a few days we thought delay dangerous so we have unanimously resolved: to live no longer in such . . danger but to secure the fort better which we have under God with succor without resistance and bloodshed effected and we declare to be entirely and openly opposed to papists and their religion and therefore expecting orders from England we shelter and guard surely and effectually the said fort in the behalf of the power that now governeth in England to surrender to the person of the Protestant religion that shall be nominated or sent by the power aforesaid this post our most secure . . . that we . . . to manifest as well to the power aforesaid that God hath pleased to submit us to as to other persons to avoid their reproaches that they could otherwise in J. Ielsler by the aforesaid inhabitants:
